February 20, 2002 LR 6

SENATOR SMITH: So if the Governor, for example, wanted to say 21 years of age but the tribe wanted 18 years of age, if it ends up at 21 is that negotiating in bad faith?

SENATOR SCHIMEK: No, because presumably if it ends up at 21 there's been a trade-off somewhere else. You know, that's what negotiations are all about.

SENATOR SMITH: Okay. Thank you.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Smith. Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, this is one of those bills which has greater depth to it and more significance than the terms contained in the bill. There is nothing overtly connected with sex about this bill, but people are less nervous about a discussion in public of sex than they are about racism and discrimination. Those are factors underlying this bill and the attitude of some of my colleagues, consciously, unconsciously, subconsciously. I have been in this Legislature over 30 years and I'll bring something to the attention of my detractors. When I finish the current term that I'm on, I will have been in the Legislature longer than anybody in the history of this state. Now, that might be a dubious distinction which shows only the ability to really take it and survive, but it will be a tribute to what I always say about nature, who equips her children to survive in a hostile environment. Well, having been here all of those years, I have seen every manner of gambling bill come before the Legislature, various proposals to amend the constitution, some of which have been successful. They have always dealt with what I call white people's gambling. I want to hear some of my Catholic friends stand up and oppose this gambling when, as I've said on the floor, I see that word "bingo" on so many Catholic churches and buildings attached to these churches that I thought it was a saint named "bingo", and I would refer to "Saint Bingo" and how he was more popular than any other Catholic saint I had ever heard of. Then I had it explained to me that this is a gambling game. Well, brothers and sisters, when I was reared in a church, gambling was deemed to be an immoral activity and it
